

Pre-Cancer Signs And What To Do Immediately

Disclaimer:

We are REQUIRED to advise you to make no movement toward improving your health without first consulting a medical professional.

Pre-Cancer Sign:

Bruises that take too long to heal indicates your pancreas is not performing correctly.

The pancreas produces the enzymes that digest food and when adequate enzymes exist the enzymes move through the bloodstream to digest damaged tissue (bruises).

It is absolutely a pre-cancer sign if you are bruising easily and the bruises linger.

What To Do Immediately:

Supplement your diet with pancreatic enzymes.

Pre-Cancer Signs And What To Do Immediately

Pre-Cancer Sign:

Any tooth or gum problems... especially bleeding gums.

Bleeding gums indicate your body is not successfully converting nutrition into quality replacement cells. The standard dental approach is to scrape the teeth just under the gum-line to remove bacteria.

What To Do Immediately:

Supplement your diet with pancreatic enzymes.

Pre-Cancer Signs And What To Do Immediately

Pre-Cancer Sign:

Indigestion... any sign of digestion problems.

The Pancreas produces the enzymes that digest food into nutrients after the stomach breaks the food into tiny parts (about the size of cornmeal).

It is absolutely a pre-cancer sign if you are suffering from frequent digestion problems.

What To Do Immediately:

Supplement your diet with pancreatic enzymes.

Pre-Cancer Sign:

Vision Change (weakening eyesight).

If your vision changes quickly or you need frequent changes of prescription, this indicates muscle loss, which indicates the proteins in your diet are not being digested as they should. If you are told you are developing macular degeneration this also indicates that proteins are not being converted completely and effectively. This is a sign your digestion process is not working properly, which is a pre-cancer sign.
